Daughter Of Late Wm. Gibbs McAdoo Meets Tragic Fate

Granddaughter Of Late President Woodrow Wilson Takes Fatal Sleeping Potion

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Dec. 23.—(INS)—Funeral rites for Mrs. Eileen McAdoo Hinshaw, 32, daughter of the late William Gibbs McAdoo and granddaughter of President Woodrow Wilson, were being arranged today.

Mrs. Hinshaw died yesterday 20 minutes after being admitted to Santa Monica hospital. Police said she had taken an overdose of sleeping tablets and pronounced her death a suicide. They blamed her act on "financial difficulties" and "family trouble."

Mrs. Hinshaw was found unconscious in her hotel room at Santa Monica by Dr. Leon Kahn. Mrs. Caroline M. Willey, a hotel maid, said Mrs. Hinshaw told her yesterday morning she was going to end her life.

Mrs. Willey related to police: "She took a bottle of pills off her dresser and told me: 'I'm going to put myself to sleep for good.'"

A hotel guest, Ben Allen Markson, reported that Mrs. Hinshaw subsequently had called him on the home telephone. Police quoted Markson:

"She had told me several times that was what she was going to do. 'At 9:30 a. m. she called and said: 'Well, I did it! I hurried to her room and found her unconscious. I had the hotel call Dr. Kahn.'"

Mrs. Hinshaw had lived a life crowded with high, romantic hopes and bitter disillusionment. She was born into a socially prominent and politically powerful family. She yearned for a happy marriage and a career in music—but she was to be disappointed in both.

At the age of 19 she applied at Riverside, Cal., for a license to marry 38-year-old Rafael Lopez de Onate, Philippine-born movie "bit" player.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Two deliveries of mail in the city on Sunday greatly aided in preventing a huge pile-up of holiday mail at the post office over the week-end. Deliveries have been promptly made throughout the present holiday season in New Castle.

Pertaining to your article about the two stars in the early morning sky, they are not stars but planets and the brightest one is Venus and the other one is Jupiter.

Sincerely yours,

Supreme Court Review Is Asked By John L. Lewis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(INS)—John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers today asked the Supreme Court to review a Federal court preliminary injunction requiring Lewis to withdraw his contract termination notice.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldborough issued the preliminary injunction after he found Lewis and the union guilty on December 4 of contempt of court and fined them three million 510 thousand dollars.

The contempt conviction was based on the miners' failure to obey a temporary restraining order which was also intended to get Lewis to send the miners back to work.

Mrs. Henn, the former Miss Dorothy Gaest of London, met her husband at a service men's dance while he was an army sergeant stationed in England. They were married Jan. 1, 1945, and have one other child about a year old. Henn is employed as a bookbinder.

Faces Life Sentence For Dynamite Trap Death Of His Wife

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 23.—(INS)—James Wesley Bowden, 49, who caused his wife to open a "pandora's box" wired with six sticks of dynamite, faced a life term for first degree murder today.

A jury of seven men and five women spared Bowden death in the gas chamber with a recommendation of life imprisonment. Circuit Judge Walter L. Tooez will sentence Bowden Friday.

Bowden's wife Fern, 46, was blown to bits in the basement of their East Portland home July 27 by a trap which he said he had meant for Mrs. Bowden's friend, George Hockenos.

Later, Bowden said, he gave up his plot to kill Hockenos and hid the dynamite in the basement.

The prosecution argued that Bowden deliberately aroused his wife's curiosity until, like the legendary Pandora, she opened the fatal locker.

Georgia Has Problem, Who Is To Be Governor

By ALLEN COMPTON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 23.—Opinion as to whom should serve as Georgia's governor the next four years was in sharp contrast today among the state's political and legal experts.

Supporters of three separate contenders for the governor's chair, left vacant for the 1947-50 term by the death of Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge, continued to map strategy for an unprecedented court and political battle.

Gaining Strength
Those claiming that Lieut. Governor-elect M. E. Thompson should be the next chief executive appeared to be gaining some strength. Four members of the group which re-drafted the state's new constitution came out favoring Thompson.

Two others went into the camp of Gov. Ellis Arnall, asserting that the youthful chief executive should serve in his present office until the state has another general election two years hence.

Another stated that in his opinion the general assembly should name the governor when it convenes next month, while another said it was his opinion that the courts should decide the matter.

Attorneys From Four Counties Assemble Here

Attorneys from four counties attended a seminar in the Castle Hotel Saturday afternoon, December 21 when Judge W. Walter Braham discussed the changes of the Procedural Rules Committee. The seminar was preceded by a luncheon.

Judge William B. Purvis headed a delegation of the Butler county bar and a number of members of the Beaver county and Mercer bar were present.

The Procedural Rules Committee was given the authority by the General Assembly to put into effect changes in the rules of practice without the necessity of legislative action every time a change was made.

For many months the committee, of which Judge Braham is a member has been working on changes and there has emerged, in part at least, a pattern of procedure that has many improvements and time savers.

Attorney Thomas V. Mansell president of the Lawrence County Bar Association presided. Attorney Alvah M. Shumaker introduced Judge Braham.

Byrnes Must Adjust Split On Argentina

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' renowned powers as a conciliator were called into play today to settle a dispute in his own backyard.

The situation involves the deep and bitter split over policy toward Argentina. The chief contestants are Ambassador to Argentina George S. Messersmith and Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden, former envoy to Buenos Aires. Braden is in charge of American republics affairs and, as such, Messersmith's boss.

Messersmith, however, is a career foreign service officer while Braden, a well-to-do business man, was brought into the diplomatic service after years of experience with Latin-America's trade and politics.

The ambassador is due to arrive in Washington today or tomorrow. He was summoned home by Byrnes immediately after the secretary's return from the "Big Four" peace talks.

Governor-Elect Talmadge Buried

Men and women the fiery, 62-year-old campaigner for white supremacy called "my fellow countrymen," filed past his bier. Lines of mourners stretched from the main entrance of the statehouse for two blocks.

Talmadge's body will lie in state at the McRae Baptist church from noon until 2 p. m.

Funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. A. D. Woodie, retired Baptist minister; the Rev. Blake Craft, Methodist minister; and the Rev. L. C. Fullerton, pastor of the McRae Methodist church.

An honorary escort was made up of Georgia political leaders and officials. Pallbearers will be personal friends.

Nab Alleged Killer

Shot twice during a gun battle with Los Angeles police, William E. Walker, above, will live, following an emergency operation, to answer charges of slaying a state highway patrolman last June, and wounding two Los Angeles policemen. Walker, 28, is ex-Army officer.

While the committee trying to frame a list of assignments to please the Republican conference has the headache of too many applicants for most important committees, it has the help-wanted sign out for the rules group.

The committee will meet again tomorrow in its effort to find rules committee personnel and to wrestle with its multitude of other assignment problems.

It was learned that except for Sen. Brooks (R-Ill.), who will be chairman, no senator wanted the committee.

But with the Bilbo issue before it and the possibility of other challenges, the Republican leaders want a strong committee, heavy with legal talent.

War Crimes Trial In Tokyo Resumes Despite Tremors

Hear More Evidence Of Jap Brutality In Java And China During Late War

TOKYO, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Unshaken from its grim routine by the Japanese earthquake, the international war crimes trial proceeded on schedule in Tokyo today.

Today's testimony included an affidavit from a Japanese secret police interpreter who charged Japanese businessmen conspired to kill 130 wealthy Chinese in Java so they could acquire their wealth.

The interpreter's affidavit said the incident occurred in 1944, with the dreaded kempeitai (thought police) conniving with Japanese businessmen.

He said the Chinese were given "the electric treatment and water cure" until they admitted so-called plots against the Japanese.

Dutch intelligence reports were also introduced as evidence against ex-Premier Tojo and his 26 co-defendants. The reports said the Japanese navy special police rounded up Borneo girls for immoral purposes from which civilian Japanese derived profits.

The intelligence dockets also said the Japanese executed a thousand Chinese and natives, including local sultans, for the Sarawak uprising in the Netherlands Indies in 1944.

Future Of Hannegan Is Political Enigma

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The major political enigma in Washington today is the future of Robert E. Hannegan as Democratic national chairman.

Rumors long have prevailed that Hannegan will retire next month because of ill health. Hannegan now is in Florida vacationing and trying to reduce high blood pressure. He has a date for a final hospital checkup in Washington in mid-January.

Many top Democratic leaders desire Hannegan's retirement. Congressional Democrats say that President Truman would like a new chairman to prepare and conduct the 1948 presidential campaign but there has been no such signal from the White House.

Blamed In Campaign
Hannegan is blamed generally for the major Democratic slaughter last November when Republicans captured both House and Senate in the new Congress. Capitol critics say Hannegan based his campaign strategy for the last two years on an alliance with left wing forces while losing millions of middle-of-

Reveal U. S. Ship Leaves Dairen After Verbal Ultimatum

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(INS)—The state department today awaited an official report from the United States consul at Dairen on the Russian order to leave that port "within 20 minutes."

The navy said it contemplated no action on the incident and declared that the occurrence was a matter for the state department to handle.

DAIREN, Dec. 20.—(Delayed)—A United States navy ship pulled out of the port of Dairen this afternoon after receiving a verbal ultimatum from Russian military officials to the effect that "unless you leave within 20 minutes we will not be responsible for the consequences."

Previously, the Russian military commander in charge of the city had refused to permit an American businessman with full clearance from U. S. authorities to depart from the ship.

Also denied permission to land were two American newspapermen, representing the combined world press.

The vessel, LC-3 1090, was on a second routine courier mission to Dairen carrying diplomatic mail and supplies to the U. S. consulate there.

Plan Christmas For U. S. Soldiers Isolated In Japan

NAGOYA, Dec. 23.—(INS)—American soldiers—even though stranded in area of Japan flooded by the weekend tidal waves—were assured today on the means of a Christmas celebration.

From Nagoya on the edge of the disaster area, U. S. Fifth Air Force planes were dispatched to drop Christmas packages, cigars and candy to isolated army units.

The idea of collecting Christmas gifts and flying them to their buddies was conceived by First Lieuts. George Alms, of Gary, Ind., and Robert L. Britt, Seattle, Wash.

The two airmen had been flying reconnaissance over the stricken area. They reported that army personnel signaling from the ground so far had requested neither food nor water.

Philip, whose name has been linked romantically with Princess Elizabeth, will spend Christmas as the guest of his uncle and aunt, Viscount and Lady Mountbatten, at their home in Hampshire.

The prince, an officer in the British Navy, has applied for British citizenship and reports circulating in London society hold that this is a preliminary to an announcement of his engagement to the princess.

Yule Mail Is Greatest Ever

Over 200,000 More Pieces Of Mail Handled In Past Week At Post Office Here

There seems to be a super-abundance of Christmas spirit this year as evidenced in the huge volume of Christmas mailing and the tremendous demand on local stores for Christmas merchandise. Christmas mailing during the week ending December 22 produced over 200,000 more cancellations than last year. Postmaster William R. Hanna stated this morning.

In spite of this tremendous increase, the situation was well in hand this morning, the postmaster stated, due in a large part to the heroic efforts of the regular carriers, who have worked overtime to get the mail in shape for delivery, and to the competent job done by the extra help hired during the past week to deliver it.

The only bottleneck has been in the rural section, where most of the rural carriers have been overburdened under normal conditions, due to the constant expansion of their routes. It is impossible for them to make more than one delivery per day, and there may be some mail which will not get delivered.

In the city, however, every bit of local mail which is put in the post-office here by noon tomorrow will be delivered. The office will be kept open tonight until eight o'clock for the late comers, Mr. Hanna stated.

Packages will be delivered all day Christmas and there will be the usual special delivery service.

Carol Singing Program Ends

Welsh Singers Present Concluding Program On Public Square Saturday Night

Closing the series of municipal Christmas caroling on the Public Square, the Cymrodorion, a mixed chorus of 48, sang a half-hour program of Welsh and English airs Saturday night, Dec. 21. The chorus was directed by John M. Evans, with Mrs. Evans at the piano. Earl Hammond, talented young tenor, was heard in solo in "Oh Holy Night," and Matt Davies sang the solo part of the closing number, "Good Night My Love." For the concert a crowd gathered at the Federal building and along Washington street to the bridges, groups could be seen listening to the songs as they went out over the public address system.

Five choruses were heard in the series. Opening the series was the Alumni choir, composed of former senior high school singers; then the Negro choir, then the Eintracht chorus, the choir of SS, Philip and James, and finally the Cymrodorion. The Merchants' division of the Greater New Castle association sponsored the series, and from the favorable reaction to the idea it is probably it will be done again next Christmas season.

The efforts of all the choruses were multiplied many times through the public address system, which was installed by Clarence M. England of the Pennsylvania Power company.

Taft To Accept Labor Committee Post In Senate

(BULLETIN) WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Sen. Robert Taft, of Ohio, decided today that he wants to be chairman of the labor committee in the new Republican controlled senate.

Taft made his announcement in a formal statement disclosing he will ask the Republican conference to assign him that chairmanship.

He said that he will remain on the senate finance committee and that he "hopes to carry on" as chairman of the Republican steering committee.

The Ohio Republican, regarded as his party's most influential senator on domestic affairs, passed up the chairmanship of the powerful finance committee to get the usually less desirable labor committee assignment.

Ellen defied her father and eventually won his grudging approval. She and the Filipino were married in Albuquerque, N. M., in November, 1934.

The gay couple went to Europe and there lived two years. Then Ellen returned home with her infant son, Richard. Her marriage to De Onate, she announced, was at an end.

In 1937 Ellen was granted a divorce and Senator McAdoo—now divorced himself—adopted the child. Ellen sought to forget her broken romance by plunging into the study of music. Soon she met a 22-year-old conductor of a federal symphony orchestra, William A. Hinshaw.

They were married in 1938 in a socially-brilliant ceremony at Hollywood. This time her father gave her away.

Her marriage to Hinshaw, now a Warner Brothers musician, lasted five years. She divorced Hinshaw on grounds of cruelty and received custody of their son, Billy, now 6.

Last year Hinshaw, since remarried, opened a court battle to gain Billy's custody. Eventually, custody of the boy, a student at Page Military academy, was evenly divided between the parents.

All members said the commission did not discuss the matter, because no one thought a governor-elect would die before the newly-created office of lieutenant-governor would become effective.

Most of the experts who would be quoted were of the opinion that the matter would eventually be settled by the courts—either the state supreme court or the United States Supreme Court.

Sources close to Governor Arnall predicted that the retiring state head would wage a vigorous battle to remain in office until a successor is "properly elected and qualified." They contended that this will not be until after the general election of 1950.

Some political and legislative leaders assert that Herman Talmadge, son and campaign manager of Eugene, would be named governor when the solons convene next month.

Best information from the White House is that Mr. Truman will not ask for Hannegan's resignation, but is willing to accept his resignation, not only as chairman but as postmaster general as well. A presidential friend observed:

"Mr. Truman will not ask for Bob's resignation. He doesn't treat a friend that way."

At Democratic headquarters, officials were unaware of Hannegan's plans. One source said: "It is up to Hannegan's doctor. If his health permits, Hannegan will remain."

thorities was finding shelter for the hundreds of thousands made homeless.

Casualty estimates continued to vary as the relief work was speeded. General MacArthur's headquarters set the casualty toll at 1,522. This was broken down into 947 dead or missing and 575 injured. The figure included 681 known dead and 266 missing.

Every facility of the U. S. occupation army and the Red Cross was enlisted. American personnel risked their lives to bring food and medicine to their own comrades and to Japanese stranded in the disaster area of central and southern Japan.

Announce 1,627 Dead

The Japanese home ministry announced a total of 1,627 dead, missing or injured, but the estimate of dead or missing was 799—lower than the figure from MacArthur's headquarters.

In its latest tabulation Kyodo News Agency estimated 1,015 were dead, 1,196 injured and 92 missing. The agency's tabulation gave 8,064 homes destroyed; 18,108 others damaged; plus 2,207 homes washed away and 27,322 homes flooded in the tidal waves.

The Japanese news agency added that 27 bridges were destroyed and 2,350 fishing boats had been lost. Estimates of the homeless ranged from a low of 150,000 to a high of one million offered by the Japanese home ministry.

Official casualty figures tended to increase as reports from isolated areas continued to trickle in. Reports were admitted incomplete, particularly from Honshu's Akiyama prefecture (province) which with Shikoku Island took the brunt of the staggering blow from the six tidal waves.

Two groups of American soldiers were stranded in Wakayama at Tanabe and Shingu, but it was believed that all were safe. Planes dropped sealed ration kits and tablets for purifying water to the Americans and performed the same service for isolated Japanese.

Two incidents in which American relief crews and observers apparently escaped serious injury or death were reported. In the first incident, a small boat carrying Americans to the Shingu-Tanabe sector capsized. Shattered communications left the fate of the Americans in doubt, but it was believed they were safe.

An American pilot of a sub-type observation plane made a forced landing near Shingu in the other incident. The pilot was unreported for many hours but finally radioed that he had run out of fuel and made a successful landing.

Shingu Reports Vague

In the third day after the disaster, MacArthur's headquarters said reports from Shingu, a city of 32,000, were still "vague." One report said a third of the city was burned out in fire which struck after the flood waters receded.

Tons of food were sent to the disaster area and General MacArthur's headquarters ordered the Japanese government to release stockpiles of military supplies held for just such an emergency.

The winter weather and fires added new grief to the plight of the refugees, but the disaster relief was proceeding in good fashion.

MacArthur's headquarters reported enough medical supplies to treat one million persons for a month were sent out. To hard-hit Wakayama alone was sent enough food to feed 50,000 persons for six days.

No Damage from New Tremors

There was apparently no serious damage resulting from a series of new tremors which struck central and southern Japan early Sunday.

A clearer picture of the mass disaster was drawn as American relief officers sent reports in to MacArthur's headquarters. Officers indicated that the job of rehabilitation was not as big as was feared when first reports were received.

In its Monday morning announcement, MacArthur's headquarters estimated that 7,400 homes were destroyed and 25,000 damaged, including 20,000 flooded.

The Japanese home ministry reported damage and casualties spread over 24 prefectures. It was estimated that the area affected by Saturday's submarine tremor—one of the strongest in history—embraced 90,000 square miles.

Mrs. Nevada Robinson of Sampson street, and Mrs. Anna Houch of Dillworth, avenue, have received word that their cousin, Mrs. Cinda Voyce, of Belle Vernon, has passed away at the age of 82.

Funeral services will be conducted on Tuesday afternoon with interment in Belle Vernon cemetery.

The late Mrs. Voyce is well-known here, having often visited this city with friends and relatives.

GERMAN GESTAPO OFFICIALS GIVEN SENTENCE OF DEATH

TELETYPE, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Eighteen German gestapo officials, 88 men and concentration camp functionaries were under sentence of death today for war crimes, including the murder of 150,000 Serbs.

The war crimes court sentenced nine of them, including Lieut. Gen. August Meiser, gestapo chief for Serbia, to death by hanging. The nine others will be shot.

Two other Germans were sentenced to 20 years at hard labor and two were given five years each. Spectators at the trial, many of them survivors of the concentration camps, cheered and applauded the verdicts.

REVEAL U. S. SHIP LEAVES DAIREN AFTER VERBAL ULTIMATUM

ails of the first trip had been revealed to the press, two correspondents were permitted to take passage on this trip by Admiral Charles M. Cooke, junior commander of the Seventh Fleet, in order to be present in event their going ashore would meet with the approval of local authorities.

Admiral Cooke had ruled that no photographs could be made without the consent of the local officials.

Arrived December 18

The ship arrived at Dairen Dec. 18, and requested permission to remain in port for 48 hours.

This was accepted without comment by the Soviet authorities who met the ship at anchorage.

The ship remained in the harbor two additional hours while U. S. Consul General H. Merrill Benninghoff attempted a last minute appeal to the Soviet military authorities to permit an American businessman, Jesse L. Poole, Atlanta, Ga., representing the Standard Vacuum Oil Co., to go ashore.

It was at this point that the Soviet ultimatum was delivered.

The Soviets ordered the ship to leave despite the fact that neither the diplomatic courier nor the commanding officer of the ship were aboard.

They were at the American consulate awaiting results of Consul General Benninghoff's final appeal to the Soviet commander. They arrived on board only at the very moment of the ship's departure.

The Russian military commander of the city, Maj. Gen. V. U. Korzhaneff, refused to see the American consul general, however, and the ultimatum was delivered to the ship by one of his military aides.

When the consul called at the Soviet commander's home to appeal from the decision banning the three Americans from Dairen, he was left standing in the bitterly cold street while a sentry carried his request inside. After some time, he was told that General Korzhaneff was not available.

STARLINGS TAKE OVER

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Dec. 23.—(INS)—An army of several thousand starlings has taken over the city of Poughkeepsie. City officials and police admit they are stumped on how to get rid of the unruly invaders.

Despite all attempts to drive out the marauders, they have moved in and settled down.

The seven so-called "dust bowl states" produced approximately 535,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1944.

Howard Purdy.

Rev. R. J. Humbert officiated at the single ring ceremony at 4:30 o'clock in the presence of the immediate families. White chrysanthemums and white tapers in tall branched candelabra decorated the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her elder brother, Martin H. Hofmeister of Youngstown, wore a pink flannel suit and matching hat accented by brown accessories and her flowers were a corsage of brown orchids.

DAY-PHELPS CHURCH WEDDING SATURDAY

Poinsettias and vases of white snapdragons against an altar backdrop of ferns formed the altar setting for the candlelight wedding ceremony Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Central Christian church of Miss Irene Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ringer of 28 North Mill street, and Philip R. Phelps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Phelps of Tempelana avenue, R. D. 8.

Rev. James N. Rainey officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of 250 friends and relatives who attended the open church ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, W. L. Ringer, wore a wedding gown of white satin and net, the satin bodice trimmed with a net yoke. Her fingertip length veil fell from a headband of orange blossoms and she carried calla lilies.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Edward Harrison wore a pink net gown and Miss Mildred Kohme, bridesmaid, wore blue net. Both wore head-dresses of red roses and carried bouquets of red roses and white snapdragons. Miss Mary Lou Bromley, cousin of the bride, as flower girl, wore a blue net gown with pink bows and carried flowers.

Louis Phelps was best man for his brother and Harold Phelps of Pittsburgh and George Phelps of Struthers, O., both also brothers of the groom, ushers.

Wedding music was played by Roy Strobel, organist, and soloist was Samuel R. McCleary, Jr., who sang two selections.

Following the ceremony there was a reception in the church dining room for 150 guests. The bride and groom were seated at a table for 15 with Mrs. S. C. Davis pouring and buffet refreshments were served from a long table decorated in pink and white and lighted candles at which Mrs. John Fowler poured. On the bride's table was a five-tiered wedding cake cut by the bride and groom with a knife sent from Weymouth, England. Aides were the Misses Mary Jones, Elizabeth Trent, Dorothy Brest, Elizabeth Milliken and Hazel Parks and Mrs. Frances Miller.

The newlyweds left by motor on a wedding trip to Raleigh, N. C., and on their return will be at home in an apartment at 28 North Mill street.

Political Precedents Made Only To Be Broken

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The candidates and the not-candidates have been getting a great deal of advice ever since the rash of presidential statements which happened, by one of those odd political coincidences, to come out all in a rush, like a case of the political measles.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan would certainly have changed his timing if he had known in advance that Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio intended to make his statement in Atlanta. The two renunciations coming together strained public credulity to the breaking point. On top of that came Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's side-stepping.

Vandenberg feels that he has suffered from this burst of cynicism. He is hurt that people, and particularly political writers, do not take him at his word.

Harder To Swallow

The Taft camel is, of course, harder to swallow than the Vandenberg goat. After all, the Ohio senator has for a long time been making all the gestures of a candidate. His complaint is that he gets credit for moves on the political chessboard with which he has had no connection at all. One such move about which he insists he knew nothing in advance, was the dismissal of Miss Marion Martin as head of the women's division of the Republican national committee.

Taft has recently engaged a very able public relations representative who has opened an office in downtown Washington. The senator from Ohio, it is explained, so often finds his views misrepresented in the press that he feels compelled to try to give the public the true Taft picture. Presumably in collaboration with his new high-powered assistant, Taft will write several magazine articles for which he has already contracted.

Vandenberg's friends have pointed out to him that he might have said what Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman said in 1871, when he deliberately and finally shattered a presidential boom by declaring that, if nominated, he would not run, and if elected, he would not serve. The senator's reply is that no American can say that; that while it might do for a soldier who felt that politics was completely out of his field, it would not be becoming in a politician who might have to recognize that the office was seeking the man.

By contrast, former Gov. Harold Stassen's frank declaration had an honest and forthright sound. Unlike a man who is bold enough to come out and say what he is after, Stassen, too, has been receiving a wealth of advice from the experts. The more solemn advisers are saying, "But, but, you're man, the time to run for the presidency is by no means ripe."

It calls to mind that famous race in "Alice Through the Looking Glass," when Alice was seized by the red queen and they went running off.

"Now! Now!" cried the queen. "Faster! Faster!" and they went so fast that at last they seemed to skim through the air, hardly touching the ground with their feet, till suddenly, just as Alice was getting quite exhausted, they stopped and she found herself sitting on the ground breathless and giddy.

The queen propped her up against a tree, and said kindly, "You may rest a little now."

Alice looked around her in great surprise. "Why, I do believe we've been running this race the whole time. Everything's just as it was!"

"Of course it is," said the queen. "What would you have it be?"

"Well, in our country," said Alice, still panting a little, "you'd generally get to somewhere—if you ran very fast for a long time, as we've been doing."

"A slow sort of country," said the queen. "Now here, you see, it takes all the running you can do to keep in the same place. If you want to get somewhere else, you must run at least twice as fast as that."

The wonderland that Alice dreamed of was not nearly so wacky as the order of things in this, our own country. To get somewhere, i. e., the presidency, you must not run. Running, if you accept the word of the political experts, you will get nowhere at all. And they cite you verse and chapter, with even the exceptions thrown in.

But political precedents are made only to be broken. Stassen is likely to gain much more by his frankness than by an obviously contrived effort to be coy. His position as the challenger, the David who steps up to the Goliath of the Republican party, calls for boldness. In his statement, Stassen made an honest beginning that should win him new friends.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Q As a former member of the WAAC's but not the WAC's, am I entitled to any rights and benefits as a veteran?
A Former members of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps who did not continue in service with the Women's Army Corps, are entitled to certain benefits, including: hospitalization for service-connected or emergency non-service connected disorders; domiciliary care, burial allowance, remployment preference under Selective Service, and rights under the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Act. They are not entitled to benefits under the G. I. Bill or to veterans preference under Civil Service regulations.

Q Will my pension be reduced if I get a job?
A Not necessarily. Disabled veterans are encouraged to do such work as their disability permits. Each disability pension is based on the veteran's disability as determined by Veterans Administration rating schedule. Such pensions are subject to change only as the disability itself changes.

Q Will I save money by paying my National Service Life Insurance premiums in advance?
A Yes, you will save about three per cent a year by paying your premiums in advance on other than a monthly basis.

Q Under the new law passed by Congress can I obtain sick or accident benefits through my National Service Life Insurance?
A It is possible to obtain, at a small extra premium, a disability income feature in your NSLI policy which will pay $5 monthly per $1,000 of insurance in case of total disability. Waiver of premiums also is allowed for total disability in all NSLI policies. In both cases, the total disability must have continued for six consecutive months.

Q Does the amount of money I make on the job affect the amount of subsistence I receive while attending school under Public Law 346?
A Yes. While taking a full time course in school, you are entitled to subsistence of $65 per month if without a dependent or dependents and $90 per month if you have a dependent or dependents; but if you are also employed, the rate of such allowance plus compensation received, shall not exceed $175 per month if you are without a dependent or dependents or $200 per month if with dependent or dependents.

The spirit of Christmas is everywhere . . . Gromyko didn't even veto the atom control plan . . . he just said he wouldn't have anything to do with it.

In the subway the other day a man accidentally elbowed a woman and said "pardon me." She said "Oh that's all right" and 200 people tottered out of the car at the next station saying "how did we get to Philadelphia?"

Anyhow, the cold weather is with us and a scientist says cold weather is better for man or beast than warm weather . . . A point which Florida and California will be permitted to challenge.

He says hens lay more eggs and cows give more milk in cold weather and there is one story about a fellow took a cow from a temperate zone to the north.

Two weeks later he wired a veterinarian "The milk pails are full and there's 18 gallons of whipping cream in the bathtub . . . what shall I do now?"

The veterinarian wired back "get a sun lamp and use it as it was never intended."

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Every once in a while you get more sound philosophy out of a comic strip than you do from a weighty textbook.

Last night there was one like that in my paper.

In the first panel a chap has his hand in the cookie jar, about ready to swipe one of the cookies. He looks guilty.

In the second panel he walks away with the cookie in his hand, but he has a terrified look in his eye. A small replica of himself, labeled "CONSCIENCE," sits on his shoulder, pointing an accusing finger at him.

In panel three our man breaks the cookie in half, keeps one-half, hands the other to "CONSCIENCE," who grins.

In panel four, the fellow contentedly eats his part of the cookie, while "CONSCIENCE" flies away, nibbling the other half of the delicacy.

Sound stuff, isn't it?

There is hardly a day that we don't feed our conscience cookies, and unfortunately, the average conscience seems too often to go to sleep after such a feeding, just as a child goes to sleep when its little stomach has been filled with food.

I have recently been attending some of the United Nations sessions, and it is surprising to see the delectable cookies, all filled with sweet reasons, being handed out and how greedily and glibly those cookies are swallowed by easily pleased consciences.

For instance when I hear the delegate from a country where men are slaves and women chattel, talk about "human rights" and the "dignity of man," that, to me, is simply a cookie to appease the nation's conscience.

Or, when a certain senator talks about keeping negroes from voting before election, but insists that he has never advocated doing it by "unlawful means," that certainly is a cookie too large and too indigestible for anyone to swallow.

As long as there is hunger in this world amid plenty; as long as there is intolerance; as long as there is war; as long as there is rationalizing and squabbling between capital and labor and between nations, there is feeding of consciences out of the cookie jar of hypocrisy.

Just like the fellow in the comic strip, I am quite sure that every man or woman, every faction or organization or nation that violates the laws of humanity, believes that his particular cookie is good and honest food.

But I have noticed also that right now the world has a terrific case of indigestion.

So maybe it would be better to try another diet.

Gen. Eisenhower Is Being Embarrassed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—THE efforts to make a presidential candidate out of General Eisenhower, which are continuing in a mood less desultory way, have succeeded so far in doing exactly one thing—and this is to embarrass General Eisenhower. This is too bad, because he is much too good a man to be embarrassed in this way.

SOME unauthorized and overzealous persons are now distributing buttons bearing the words "Draft Ike," and every few weeks a new piece of publicity promotion makes its appearance. Of course, neither directly nor indirectly has General Eisenhower the remotest connection with these activities. Moreover, if those in intimate association with him are to be relied upon, he is more than a little resentful over the unpleasant position in which he is being placed and at his inability to do anything about it.

HERE it is more than a year and a half before the national conventions and yet from now on practically everything General Eisenhower will be construed in political terms. Every time he makes a speech it will be analyzed for its political significance. If he follows out his desire to retire as chief of staff, the same thing will happen.

IF he should now make an unequivocal statement that he will not be a candidate, does not want to be drafted and will not accept nomination by either party, it would not better the situation very much so far as he is concerned. In declining something that had not yet been offered him—and which may never be offered. In the second place, his unimpeachable boosters would insist that his declaration only made him stronger as a candidate, increased the desirability of drafting him. They would point out that this was the correct position for him to assume but that, of course, he would not refuse to run if drafted and that his genuine unwillingness was exactly what might be expected of him.

SO the General is in a fix where he can do nothing about this presidential publicity one way or the other. The thing that makes the fix somewhat more painful is that it seems perfectly apparent that even if he were co-operating under cover the chances of his being drafted by either Democrats or Republicans would be exceedingly poor. For one thing, there appears to be no public demand for such action anywhere—certainly not among the veterans of the last war. Recently, Fortune magazine published a poll of veterans taken by Mr. Elmo Roper which showed an emphatic majority of veterans against the nomination of either General Eisenhower or General MacArthur.

THE veterans, Mr. Roper reported, are against the generals, politically. According to this poll, the choice of the veterans for president are in the order named—Dewey, Stassen, Truman, Wallace, Taft. Both Generals Eisenhower and MacArthur are farther down the line. Thus, it seems, that there not only is no substantial support for the Eisenhower movement now but it is very unlikely there will be any later. His boom is largely the publicity product of a small number of left-wing Democrats who are bitterly hostile to Mr. Truman.

BESIDES providing an unpleasant experience for General Eisenhower, all the movement has done so far is to make the Truman nomination in 1948 more sure. An Eisenhower draft, with Mr. Truman's concurrence, is one way this could be avoided. The other way is for Mr. Truman absolutely to decline to become the candidate. Both these contingencies are exceedingly remote. Concerning the latter, men close to the president say that he is not at all impressed by those who now tell him that because he stood up and fought John L. Lee, he is instead of appeasing him, he has made a great political comeback.

HE just smiles at that, though he must know that his stature in the country has been enhanced by his firmness and courage. But this gives him no illusions about either himself or the Democratic prospects. He is quite well aware that the odds favor the Republicans and that there will have to be an awful lot of good luck for both himself and the party if they are to have a real chance. Nevertheless, Mr. Truman intimates say, that he regards the nomination of November 5 as the end of the first quarter not at the end of the game, that he intends to play the game out to the finish and that when the whistle blows at the end of the fourth quarter in November, 1948, he will be found in there fighting. That is the way he feels about it—and that is the way he is talking.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

STORY OF WORLD'S FIRST CHRISTMAS TREE

There is an old legend of the Christmas tree which probably goes far back of the time of Christopher Columbus. According to this legend, all creatures came to worship in Bethlehem on the night when Jesus was born. The tree came too. The spruce tree, which was the least among them, came the farthest. It was so tired from the journey it could hardly stand. It was so small that it hardly could be seen among the other big and showy trees.

But the stars took pity on the little spruce tree that felt so lonely. And lo! Stars rained from Heaven. The bright Christmas star alighted on the very top of the little spruce tree and all the other stars alighted in its branches. And the child in the manger saw the spruce and blessed it with a smile.

First Christmas Tree

There was not always a Christmas tree for the children in America. The first Christmas tree ever seen in the United States stood in the front of the house of Frederick Ingard, his wife and two young children in Wooster, O., on Christmas Eve of 1847—Just 99 years ago. It was a spruce tree decorated with paper dolls and ornaments made at home.

The tree was put there as a surprise for Frederick's younger brother and family who had just arrived from Germany. It was planned for a Christmas just as in the old country.

How the children must have danced for joy at seeing this Christmas tree. The next year other settlers had Christmas trees and soon the custom of having Christmas trees spread throughout the United States.

The foregoing should afford interesting conversation in any family of growing children. Also, "The Fir Tree," by Hans Christian Anderson, is a fascinating folk tale for younger children at this time. How they enjoy having read to them, "Dear Fure Christmas," by Eugene Field. It begins with the lines:

"Father calls me William, sister calls me Will.
"Mother calls me Willie, but the fellows call me Bill," and ends with: "Just Fure Christmas I'm as good as I can be."

A Great Poem

And what child does not like to read or hear that great poem which brought Santa Claus to America? 'Twas the night before Christmas—Yet nothing outdoes the old story of the world's beginning of Christmas told in the New Testament.

As you observed, the first Christmas tree was decorated with homemade things. Even today, the Christmas tree when the children help to decorate from things they have made can be the most beautiful tree to these children. See how much this creative activity can mean to these young creators. What joys can surpass the joys of making beautiful things together in the family?

Words Of Wisdom

I urged the good lady that this was Christmas eve; that Christmas comes but once a year—which is unhappily too true, for when it begins to stay with us the whole year round we shall make this earth a very different place.

—Charles Dickens

Bible Thought

And the destruction of the sinners shall be together and they that forsake the Lord shall be consumed.

—Isaiah 1:28

The World and the Mud Puddles

OUR INHERITANCE FROM F. D. R.

One baleful consequence of many years of New Deal administration is the development in the United States of a form of class consciousness and class prejudice. From the very inauguration of Franklin D. Roosevelt this evil has been fostered. Mr. Roosevelt was fond of referring in his addresses to the "underhoused, under-nourished" two-thirds of our population. He lashed out at "privileged" and "club members" with "well-stocked lockers"—although he himself one of the same "prices of privilege" and "club members" whom he denounced.

At the very time he was sojourning on the yacht of a fellow millionaire, Vincent Astor, he was denouncing the "torres" and "predatory" rich. He adapted, with slight revisions, the redistribution of wealth theories of Louisiana's Huey Long and advocated maximum incomes of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars, although making no move to redistribute his own wealth or limit the exaggerated incomes of his own family derived mostly from his occupancy of the Presidential chair.

Hints On Etiquette

A well-bred young girl will rise and give her seat to a gray-haired woman on a streetcar or bus unless, of course, the girl is not well or crippled.

Guam's Harbor

Recent work of the rolling-up of the United States naval base at Samar, in the Philippines, is in contrast with the news that the great wartime project at Apra Harbor at Guam, in the Marianas, is still being developed. A scale model of the harbor, complete with beaches and water and even miniature typhoons, has been made at the California Institute of Technology for remote-control experimentation by engineers.

There is to be no fooling around with Guam this time. It is true that the Japanese power is destroyed, but if Pearl Harbor is worth maintaining, then so is Guam. Guam is an American island, "Crossroads of the Western Pacific," latterday base of flying against Japan, in easy range of the Asiatic mainland, a great communications center of cable and radio in war, and now in peace in the direct line of merchant shipping to the Philippines and China.

Before the war the Navy could not get the funds to build what it wanted, including a fleet anchorage, at Guam. Men returning home by way of Guam after hostilities saw huge chunks of white coral being dumped on a jangling breakwater enclosing the bluest of water beside the greenest of sheer, high hills. That work continues. A noble and beautiful Apra Harbor, a refuge from typhoons, will be still there after the last scars of war have vanished.

Every New Home Counts

One of the things which is being overlooked by the leftwing "viewers-with-alarm who have been throwing fits because the building industry is not to be communized, is that anything which gets homes built more speedily will help to ease the acute shortage of dwellings. If a step toward a return to private enterprise in construction does nothing more than stimulate residential construction of all kinds, it will ease the plight of all those looking for a place to live.

This is true even if a majority of the new dwelling units erected cost more—because of high wages—than the average veteran and homeseeker wants to pay. What has been commonly forgotten in the hysterical efforts to provide low-cost housing is that whenever a family moves into a new house, a vacant dwelling unit is left for someone else.

At today's high labor and material costs it is nearly impossible to build a house in the $6,000-$7,000 price range. But there are people ready to buy the $10,000 to $20,000 houses which can be erected under present conditions. By pushing construction of this type of housing and of lower-cost rental units, industry can crack the shortage which is the reason for the high prices of all kinds of homes today.

Americans may see the time when the $5,000 home will return. But, in the meantime, anything which results in speeding up the building of more housing, whether of low or moderate cost, will provide more living space, ease the shortage and bring closer the day when the young veteran and non-veteran alike can obtain a home at a price he can afford. The simplest and most direct answer to the problem is to get more houses built.

Every Ten Years

Carrying out again an unwritten tradition that the American Legion should return every tenth year to France, the land of its birth, Paul H. Griffith, national commander, has announced another mass overseas pilgrimage for 1947. It will be the third.

In 1927, the Legion held its national convention in Paris—a never-to-be-forgotten occasion attended by more than 25,000 Legionnaires. The second pilgrimage was in 1937 at the close of the New York convention, when more than 5,000 made the overseas journey to be welcomed by General Pershing and a grateful France, which paid all their travel, hotel and meal expenses while in the country, and fed them from Touraine to their old battlefields in the Argonne.

Now the Legion has accepted the invitation of President Georges Bidault to come back once again and hold part of its next year's convention in Paris.

Augmented by World War II veterans, the 1947 Legion membership, including the Auxiliary, is expected to be more than 5,000,000, or five times what it was ten years ago. If economic and international conditions continue on the mend, the 1947 pilgrimage to France should assume the proportions of a mass movement across the ocean far exceeding any peacetime precedent.

River Revival

So much has been written of late about the golden age of paddle-wheels on the Ohio and Mississippi that some readers may have arrived at the notion that passenger travel on these historic waterways has all but faded into a story-book past. Not so.

Postwar excursion and business demands have been far overtaking the Gordon Greene, last of the stern-wheel passenger packets now operating from the historic Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Mississippi river ports down to New Orleans. And it is big news in these towns that the Delta Queen, a stern-wheeler of impressive dimensions, is being brought from the West Coast to the Ohio by way of the Panama Canal to join the Gordon in taking care of the revived trade.

The Delta Queen, which Capt. Tom Greene of Cincinnati bought at a government sale with a high bid of $46,250, was fabricated in Scotland in 1926 at a cost of more than $1,000,000. It is licensed to carry 1,000 day passengers and 190 over-night passengers in air-treated cabins. There hasn't been a passenger boat of the Delta Queen's proportions on the Ohio since 1913.

In a newer day of super-highways and streamlined trains and planes, the lore and nostalgia of the rivers, persist in the states along their course. And uncounted American families soon will be spending sunny and carefree hours in a leisurely trip on the decks of the Delta Queen.

You're Telling Me

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

The rebels took to the air and tried to bomb the presidential palace. But all the fumble-fingered bombardiers could throw were bases on ball.

Some street fighting took place but it was no more exciting than a rehearsal for New Year's Eve.

The revolt was led by an Army major who thought it would be nice to be president—with or without benefit of election.

At the end of 24 hours the major saw he was rapidly getting nowhere so he hopped a plane of Colombia where he will stay until things cool off back home. Since it's now summer in Venezuela, that probably won't be until next June.

The revolution was a complete washout. Especially for the undergarments, since no one was killed.

Only casually was a bystander as it is determined which side hit him, apologies are expected.

STORY OF WORLD'S FIRST CHRISTMAS TREE

There is an old legend of the Christmas tree which probably goes far back of the time of Christopher Columbus. According to this legend, all creatures came to worship in Bethlehem on the night when Jesus was born. The tree came too. The spruce tree, which was the least among them, came the farthest. It was so tired from the journey it could hardly stand. It was so small that it hardly could be seen among the other big and showy trees.

But the stars took pity on the little spruce tree that felt so lonely. And lo! Stars rained from Heaven. The bright Christmas star alighted on the very top of the little spruce tree and all the other stars alighted in its branches. And the child in the manger saw the spruce and blessed it with a smile.

First Christmas Tree

There was not always a Christmas tree for the children in America. The first Christmas tree ever seen in the United States stood in the front of the house of Frederick Ingard, his wife and two young children in Wooster, O., on Christmas Eve of 1847—Just 99 years ago. It was a spruce tree decorated with paper dolls and ornaments made at home.

The tree was put there as a surprise for Frederick's younger brother and family who had just arrived from Germany. It was planned for a Christmas just as in the old country.

How the children must have danced for joy at seeing this Christmas tree. The next year other settlers had Christmas trees and soon the custom of having Christmas trees spread throughout the United States.

The foregoing should afford interesting conversation in any family of growing children. Also, "The Fir Tree," by Hans Christian Anderson, is a fascinating folk tale for younger children at this time. How they enjoy having read to them, "Dear Fure Christmas," by Eugene Field. It begins with the lines:

"Father calls me William, sister calls me Will.
"Mother calls me Willie, but the fellows call me Bill," and ends with: "Just Fure Christmas I'm as good as I can be."

A Great Poem

And what child does not like to read or hear that great poem which brought Santa Claus to America? 'Twas the night before Christmas—Yet nothing outdoes the old story of the world's beginning of Christmas told in the New Testament.

As you observed, the first Christmas tree was decorated with homemade things. Even today, the Christmas tree when the children help to decorate from things they have made can be the most beautiful tree to these children. See how much this creative activity can mean to these young creators. What joys can surpass the joys of making beautiful things together in the family?

Words Of Wisdom

I urged the good lady that this was Christmas eve; that Christmas comes but once a year—which is unhappily too true, for when it begins to stay with us the whole year round we shall make this earth a very different place.

—Charles Dickens

Bible Thought

And the destruction of the sinners shall be together and they that forsake the Lord shall be consumed.

—Isaiah 1:28

The World and the Mud Puddles

OUR INHERITANCE FROM F. D. R.

One baleful consequence of many years of New Deal administration is the development in the United States of a form of class consciousness and class prejudice. From the very inauguration of Franklin D. Roosevelt this evil has been fostered. Mr. Roosevelt was fond of referring in his addresses to the "underhoused, under-nourished" two-thirds of our population. He lashed out at "privileged" and "club members" with "well-stocked lockers"—although he himself one of the same "prices of privilege" and "club members" whom he denounced.

At the very time he was sojourning on the yacht of a fellow millionaire, Vincent Astor, he was denouncing the "torres" and "predatory" rich. He adapted, with slight revisions, the redistribution of wealth theories of Louisiana's Huey Long and advocated maximum incomes of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars, although making no move to redistribute his own wealth or limit the exaggerated incomes of his own family derived mostly from his occupancy of the Presidential chair.

Threaten Life Of McKeesport Mayor For Vice Crusade

Mayor And Family Under Threat Of Death By Racketeers Of Valley City

McKEESPORT, Pa., Dec. 23.—(INS)—Mayor Charles A. Kinkaid and his family today were under strict police protection following receipt of three threatening letters during the pre-Christmas week-end, warning him to "lay off" in his anti-vice drive.

The threats brought to four the number Kinkaid has received since he took office.

The latest letter, addressed to Mrs. Kinkaid, warned her to "tell your old man that ritz ladies don't look so ritz with holes in them."

Kinkaid said he received a penciled letter Saturday at his office. He said it stated:

"Listen wise guy, you lay off the numbers now and stay off, or you and your whole damn family is going to get what you aren't looking for."

Papers Receive Note The third threatening note was received at the office of the McKeesport "Daily News," warning that Kinkaid would be "bumped off."

Kinkaid said he would turn the letters over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and to postal officials for investigation. He flatly declared:

"We will keep this campaign going until the city is as clean as it should be. I will order the police to increase their vigilance against the racketeers."

Kinkaid's vice drive is attempting to rid the city of all racketeers, but his efforts are directed principally at the numbers racket.

Police Chief William Krelling refused to divulge how the mayor's family would be guarded, stating simply that we of the police department will protect their welfare.

Report France Moves Customs Men Over Border

LONDON, Dec. 23.—(INS)—The London Daily Express reported today in a Paris dispatch that France suddenly moved 1,200 customs men across the German border and sealed off the Saar basin from the rest of Germany.

The customs men, said the Daily Express, had been standing by for a week awaiting an order to proceed.

The dispatch added that the customs move makes the Saar virtually a part of France.

The Daily Express said that United States Secretary of State James P. Byrnes and British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin were said to be in favor of giving the Saar to France. However, it added, this was not due to be settled until the meeting of the big four Foreign Ministers council in Moscow next March.

The dispatch said the march into the Saar was announced by Gen. Pierre Koenig, French occupation chief in Germany, who said the purpose was to prevent the export of food from the Saar.

RAYMOND PAUL HAWK HOME ON FURLOUGH Pvt. Raymond Paul Hawk, Jr., has arrived home from Paris Island, S. C., for a seven-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hawk, 311 Spencere street. He is serving in the marines with the signal corps and will report back to Camp Lejeune, S. C.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

throughout the New Deal regime. The great mass of workers were persuaded that all industry, all business, was governed by crooks preying on the helpless masses. The people were sold the idea that except for the intervention of the New Deal they would be in the role of serfdom to designing and heartless capitalists. They also were sold on the equally pernicious idea that the "government" owed them a living and that they could collect this living only by reprisals on greedy and selfish employers.

This propaganda of class consciousness was further promoted by the New Deal alliance with organized labor—ostensibly in the interest of the "downtrodden," but really for the perpetuation of the New Deal in power. While the fact never received publicity in this country, the New Deal secretary of labor, in an address before the labor division of the League of Nations, stated at Geneva that "for the first time America has a labor government." That the Constitution of the United States never did contemplate a "labor" government any more than a banker government or a farmer government, was blithely ignored. The tenor of this announcement was that the proletariat finally had achieved full power in America and that henceforth there would be a government of the masses rather than the classes.

For a century and a half before the New Deal the glory of the United States was that there were no classes. Nobility and titles were outlawed by founding fathers. Nobody thought of class distinction. The pick-and-shovel citizen was equal at the ballot box with the magnate or the President himself. We knew that the section-hand of today could be the railroad President of tomorrow—which actually happened. We knew that the youth collecting telephone bills could be President of the greatest telegraph and telephone system in the world—which actually happened. We knew that a little mechanic running a repair shop in Detroit could become one of the great automobile manufacturers of the world. We know that no law of caste or class distinction could keep the genius or the worker from his fair reward.

But New Dealism, sometimes subtly and sometimes openly, sedulously promoted the philosophy that government should penalize and weed out the successful for some imaginary benefit to the unsuccessful; that those who had should be assessed for the benefit of those who had not; that industry and thrift should be plucked to pamper the lazy and thriftless; that the exponents of genius, research and inventiveness should be deprived of the fruits of their endeavors to give bounties to those who neither toiled nor spun.

This philosophy of social and economic demoralization has been reaping the natural harvest of the past two years of unparalleled industrial disharmony and a new political alignment in America—the division between the right and the left. It has brought to this country the same demarcations that existed in Russia: that between the self-supporting and "bourgeois" and the non-self-supporting "proletariat." It has promoted among our people the illusion that all who prosper are "victims" of a capitalistic economy.

To overcome this sordid inheritance of demagoguery is one of the primary and vital tasks of the new regime in Congress. To remind the people, by sound example, of their true birthright under the Constitution, to re-assert the American doctrine of quality of opportunity, to restore to validity the sanction of property rights as the natural corollary of "human" rights, to accomplish a return to the law of fair returns on labor and research and investment—this is the starting point from which the new Congress must work. This program must base itself on the fundamental American principle that this is a government of all the people for all the people, and to a government for any class of whatever character.

MAKE "MONKEYS" OUT OF ZOO APES

CHICAGO.—(INS)—Every fall bounding the Brookfield zoo monkeys have delighted in making monkeys of their keepers.

But this year, the monkeys were the monkeys.

The keepers instead of chasing the elusive animals all over the grounds, lured them into two-compartment boxes by means of mirrors and bananas.

Going in, the monkeys crossed the path of an electric eye which closed the door behind them and simultaneously opened the door to the second compartment.

Passing through the second opening, the animals crossed another beam which operated the doors in reverse and made the box ready for its next monkey.

By FRANCINE MARKEL

WHEN GIRL INVITES MAN "I have heard that it is proper for a girl to invite a man to call on her—that he really should receive an invitation from her before he visits her. Is this true?"

Answer: Nothing could be farther from the truth in this era of the "go-getter." Men are not so shy, as a general rule, that they must wait until they get the high sign from a girl to get into the chase for her favors. If a man meets a girl who "has what it takes," he invariably let her know in no uncertain terms that he is interested in seeing her. Thus, he does by asking if he might telephone her or by making a definite date.

Some girls must work harder than others for masculine attention. When bids don't come their way, they must, to get into the social swim, assert themselves. For these less-popular girls, here is a bit of advice.

While it is proper for a girl to invite a man to a party or to dinner at her home, provided he has shown sufficient interest in her to warrant the invitation, she should not ask him to call on her for the purpose of a date. Anything so obvious would lead him to believe she is running after him—and a man admires that kind of girl. In fact, he will probably run faster in the opposite direction.

To make it less obvious, she should invite him some evening when she is having "the crowd" over. If he doesn't follow up with an invitation to take her places, she had better cut him off her list as hopeless. She shouldn't give him a second chance of indicating indifference to her charm.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers including stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Forever Amber' Movie Version To Pass Censorship

Producer Claims New Film Will Be Well Within Bounds Of Convention

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Judy rumors that there isn't a Santa Claus were overshadowed today by Producer Otto Preminger's declaration that "Forever Amber", on the screen, won't be a bedroom epic. Preminger, busy at 20th Century-Fox turning Kathleen Winsor's well-dubbed novel into a movie, scoffed a lot of previous publicity with the flat statement: "There are beds in the picture, but nobody acts in them."

Relaxing into a frank mood and stroking a pate free of either care of hair—and he lost the latter long before he took the helm of 20th's second attempt to film "Amber"—Preminger said:

"I don't anticipate even the slightest trouble from the censors."

Preminger said he was trying to keep his feet on the ground despite all the fanfare and remember his primary job is "to make a good movie". Therefore, he said, the film version with Linda Darnell as the energetic Amber would remain true to the novel's themes—but nowhere would it overstep the bounds of convention. Instead, he said:

"We are letting the audience take part in the making of the picture—leaving much of the story to their imaginations. Any censorship troubles will be entirely in the individual's mind."

The themes, Preminger explained, are simple. One is the portrayal of a little-known period in English history, which avid history-hounds will be able to assimilate from the screen with little trouble.

The second theme, Preminger continued, is one found in many modern pictures—the "career girl" story. "Of course," he added wistfully, "Amber's career was love."

Death Penalty For Two Convicts In Prison Murders

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—A Federal jury of six men and six women on Saturday found three Alcatraz convicts guilty of first-degree murder in the slaying of a guard during the abortive May riot. The verdict made the death penalty mandatory for Miran E. Thompson, 29, and Sam Shockley, 36.

Clarence Carnes, 19, Choctaw Indian serving 99 years for kidnaping murder and escape from an Oklahoma penitentiary was the only one of the three convicts for whom the jury recommended mercy. The jury deliberated more than 25 hours.

Although none of the three fired the shots that killed Guard William Miller, the prosecution sought the death penalty on grounds that the death occurred while the three participated in an attempted escape and therefore they were criminally responsible for the murder.

Kitty Hawk National Monument, North Carolina, was the scene of the first sustained flight by a heavier-than-air machine.

Dayton Tells How To Add Color To Yule Fireplace

Chemicals Can Be Placed On Logs To Produce Different Color Variations

If you are the kind of a person who wants a dash of color in your Christmas fire place, County Agent L. C. Dayton comes up with the information you have been looking for.

For your Yule log you should use applewood, and add the following chemicals for different color combinations. These chemicals should be mixed with shellac in the following proportions: One ounce of any of the chemicals listed, with a pint of shellac. Paint this on the logs which you intend to put in the fire place.

For purple, use lithium chloride; yellow, plain table salt; orange, calcium chloride; apple green, barium chloride; rich violet, potassium chloride; deep red, strontium chloride; plain green, borax; and deep emerald, copper chloride.

These chemicals can be procured at most any drug store, Mr. Dayton states.

Long Avenue Place Robbed

Police were told yesterday that the New Lunch, 314 East Long Avenue, was robbed of $35, early Sunday morning. A front door was forced and the burglars left through a rear door. Policeman Harry Flinner said he inspected the place at 2:30 a. m. and everything was alright. When an attaché entered the place several hours later he saw an auto speed from the rear of the restaurant. He believes the car may have contained the burglars.

OVERTURN KITCHEN STOVE IN BATTLE

Police and firemen were called to West Lawrence street at 5 p. m. Saturday during a battle in which a kitchen stove was over-turned in the Lane residence.

When Officers Hillers and Reese arrived they found the father of James Lane holding him down. It was learned James also had trouble with a brother, Lee. During the fracas in which the stove was over-turned, the fire department was called.

Mayor John F. Haven fined James Lane $5 upon conviction of a charge of disorderly conduct.

Fear Santa May Resemble Bum On Christmas Visit

Lack Of Christmas Trappings Hits Santa Hard; Adequate Clothes Hard To Find

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Santa faced a sartorial problem today. There was every likelihood that the guy who comes down the chimney Christmas eve will be boos; that he'll look as though he really needs the Christmas cookies the kids left on the hearth.

He'll need a lot of ingenuity to assemble his traditional costume, and it's 10-to-1 he'll look like a bum.

Shortages are responsible. The old costumes are worn out, there isn't any red velvet and yak is off the market.

And the leather shortage has made such accessories as the old boy's shiny high top boots and the wide belt that keeps his tummy under control scarce items.

A survey of Chicago costumers today resulted in bad news. Lester Essig, of Lester Limited, said:

"We've never been so short of Santa Claus suits as this year. We've stopped taking orders."

A salesman at the Langue Costume Co., echoed Essig.

"We can't begin to supply the demand," he said.

The beard and wig situation is the worst. They, the good ones, are made of yak, which is goat's hair.

For some reason or other there aren't any substitutes for the goat overcoat, and if father attempts to be ingenious Junior is very likely to think the old man has just lazed up for a quick shave.

The rentals are up this year. On top of the cost of what makes the pack bulge, the head of the house will have to fork over as much as $35 for a suit for one day.

And if he doesn't recover in time to get it back to the costumers pronto, it will cost him $1.50 for each additional day.

Sweater Girl's Garb Weighs Almost Pound More Than Flapper's

Pictured wearing the styles of twenty years ago and of the Modern Miss are, left, Shirley Gwin, a student at Mt. Jackson high school, and right, Betty Smith White. Mrs. White is music supervisor of Walmo and Glenmore schools. Shirley's dress was worn by her mother, Mrs. Guy Gwin when she was a school teacher in the '20s.

Not that she's slipping back to the petticoat and leg o'mutton sleeve days, but the clothes of the smart young gal of 1946 weigh more than the clothes of her mother back in the flapper days of 1926.

If you don't believe it, weigh them. Just out of curiosity, that's what was done the other day. It all started when a reporter found an old clipping, yellowed with its twenty years of lying in the editor's file.

The clipping stated very definitely, giving an itemized account of the weight of all articles of m'lady's clothing, that when she was fully dressed for the street, without a coat hat, her clothes came to less than two pounds.

And today? At the very least, her clothes weigh two pounds and six ounces, and that's if she's wearing the very lightest of light nylon girdles with no stays and no reinforcements.

Of course, you could subtract six ounces, the weight of the stockings, if she's wearing leg make-up, but two pounds is still more than one pound, seven and one-half ounces—the 1926 total.

The bobby-soxer sends the scale up farther, though, with her heavy socks and loafers and her pleated skirt and heavy sweaters. Furthermore, if the business girl is wearing a suit instead of a dress or a light skirt and sweater, her clothes will probably hit the three-pound mark—which is still a pretty light load compared to the weight of bustles and bell-bottoms.

Here's How

You want to know how it figures up? The first increase is in the stockings; instead of the one and one-half ounce chiffon stockings of twenty-two years ago, the girls are wearing six ounce rayon stockings or four ounce nylons now.

Instead of five ounce dress, sleeveless and just barely reaching her kneecap, she wears a light skirt, ten ounces (naturally, if she's wearing a winter skirt it's heavier—just a note of explanation) and a light sweater, also ten ounces. If she has a blouse under her sweater, toss in a few extra ounces that aren't included in this list.

And not that anyone's prejudiced, but don't you think that the clothes of the gal on the right are a little bit smarter than those on the left? Wonder what someone else will think in 1966?

Her smart street shoes weigh one pound, whereas her mother's high-heeled, pointed toe pumps were only eleven and one-half ounces.

Owes Her Life To Woman Whom She Never Met

DETROIT, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Seventy-seven-year-old Miss Ann Singer owes her life to a woman she never met who died last week.

This curious circumstance was born when 36-year-old Mrs. Evana Karamain of Detroit collapsed at Detroit's Whittier hotel at the end of a wedding reception.

The Fire department's Rescue Squad No. 3 was summoned, but the woman was dead when it arrived.

So, the medical team left. En route back to the station, they came on an automobile accident in which Miss Singer suffered head wounds which bled profusely and almost certainly would have taken her life.

The rescue squad quickly stopped her bleeding and, physicians say, not a second too early. Even then, blood transfusions were necessary as soon as she was hospitalized.

Her condition today is described as "fair".

MORE HOME RULE SOUGHT FOR CITIES

State C. Of C. Would Have More Freedom In Government For Pennsylvania Cities

HARRISBURG, Dec. 23.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce today appealed for support of legislation which would allow municipalities to choose their own form of local government and free them from the remote control of the General Assembly.

The State Chamber pointed out that an amendment to the state constitution was adopted in 1922 authorizing the assembly to expand legislation for "home rule" government.

Present legislation restricts home rule to boroughs and first class townships. Thirty six municipalities in the state have adopted the city manager plan of government, it was disclosed.

A special report issued by the Chamber emphasized that the present system of legislative control resulted in a "great waste of time, both by local officials in lobbying, and by legislators in the continual tinkering with municipal governments."

The Chamber said "experience over more than a half century in this country has shown that home rule and the manager form of government will go far to improve municipal operations."

Abuses of legislative control cited

by the Chamber included "unnecessary delay in dealing with local problems; lack of responsibility on the part of local officials; and the inefficiency which inevitably accompanies the diffusion of responsibility."

Chamber emphasized that the present system of legislative control resulted in a "great waste of time, both by local officials in lobbying, and by legislators in the continual tinkering with municipal governments."

The Chamber said "experience over more than a half century in this country has shown that home rule and the manager form of government will go far to improve municipal operations."

Abuses of legislative control cited

by the Chamber included "unnecessary delay in dealing with local problems; lack of responsibility on the part of local officials; and the inefficiency which inevitably accompanies the diffusion of responsibility."

Floods, cool weather and rains made serious inroads on commercial incomes, it was added. This year's strawberry yield was valued at $1,296,000 or 55 per cent above the spotty output in 1945.

Goering Suicide Rates Top Place In 1946 Stories

INS Editors Pick Nuremberg War Crimes Trial, Executions As Top News Story

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(INS)—The dramatic, eleventh hour suicide of former Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering to escape a hangman's noose topped the list of the 10 best news stories of 1946 chosen by International News Service editors throughout the world.

The biggest and best story of the year, climaxed of course by the Goering escape from justice, was the Nuremberg war crimes trial and the execution of the 10 topflight members of the Nazi hierarchy on twin scaffolds in grim Nuremberg prison.

The momentous trial began November 20, 1945, with 19 of the original 23 defendants facing the bar created by the international war crimes tribunal. Of these, 11 were sentenced to death, and all were hanged except the gaudy, boastful No. 2 Nazi.

Took Poison
Goering, who managed to secrete poison on his body despite meticulous daily searches, took his own life October 16—just a few hours before Von Ribbentrop and the others of his clan took their last earthly walk up 13 steps to the hempen rope.

The other outstanding stories of 1946 were:

2. The Republican landslide in the November 5 election, in which the G. O. P. captured control of the house and senate.

3. The big four foreign ministers' meeting in London, Paris, and New York, and the convocation of the U. N. general assembly itself in New York.

4. The atom bomb experiments on Bikini atoll on July 1 and July 25.

5. The postwar wave of strikes which culminated in a Washington courtroom with the conviction for contempt of court of John L. Lewis and the resultant fine of three and one-half million dollars on the UMW and the personal penalty of $10,000 on Lewis.

6. Eradication of virtually all OPA controls on November 9.

7. The Wincoff hotel disaster in Atlanta, Ga., on December 7—the worst hotel fire tragedy in American history.

8. The resignation of Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace on September 20 at President Truman's request.

9. The Fulton, Mo., speech of former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in which he charged that Russia had lowered an "iron curtain" over eastern Europe.

10. The 21-nation Paris peace conference.

Clock making in the United States began prior to the American revolution, and is one of our oldest manufacturing industries. The value of clocks manufactured in the United States is more than 24 million dollars annually.

SKILLET SALTED NUTS REQUIRE LITTLE FAT

For a holiday delicacy, home-salted nuts may not cost much, and if prepared by frying-pan roasting, require the minimum of fat. The process is simple, if carefully done. The nuts are delicious, according to Mrs. Hollobaugh.

Two teaspoons of cooking oil or melted vegetable fat or table fat—just enough to cover the kernels—and one teaspoon of salt are enough for each cup of nuts. To roast, combine the nutmeat halves with the oil or melted fat in the frying pan. Place over low heat and stir constantly until the nuts are heated through. This takes 10 to 12 minutes. Overcooking may scorch or burn nuts. Nutmeats, particularly pecans, darken a little after being removed from the heat and become more crisp as they cool. Drain the roasted nuts on absorbent paper and sprinkle with salt.

Pecans, hickory nuts, and English walnuts do not need to have their skins removed before roasting, but almonds or raw peanuts usually are blanched before roasting. These must be heated a little longer, 15 to 30 minutes depending on the size and degree of brownness desired.

To blanch almonds or raw peanuts, pour boiling water over them and hold at simmering temperature 3 minutes. Drain and slip off the loose skins by pressing the kernel between thumb and forefinger. Spread the blanched kernels on absorbent paper and dry overnight at ordinary room temperature.

FLOWERING PLANTS ACCEPTABLE GIFTS

Attractive plants, ranging from colorful flowering species to the foliage type, make acceptable Christmas gifts, and most of them will continue to spread Yule cheer well beyond the holiday season.

Poinsettias always are in demand for the occasion. Others include azaleas, Christmas peppers, Kalanchoes, begonias, aspidistras, rubber plants, pandanus, sansevierias, and members of the fern family.

Plan Television Of Service In Church

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(INS)—For the first time in history a church service will be televised when the traditional candle light service of carols is telecast from Grace church in New York Christmas eve at 8:30 p. m. EST.

The service, to be televised over W A B D-Du Mont, will feature a choir of over fifty men and boys and will be broadcast through arrangements made by the United States Rubber Co., over a New York-Washington network.

Thousands of wounded veterans in hospitals and other persons in similar institutions will have the opportunity to see as well as hear the famous carol service.

FIRE CHIEF THOMAS HOME FROM DESHON

Fire Chief James E. Thomas, of East Long avenue, who has been undergoing treatment in Deshon Veterans Hospital, was brought home Saturday. Chief Thomas is in fairly good condition and expects to be back on the job again soon.

Don't be embarrassed by loose, false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. Berlin In Grip Of Tuberculosis As Winter Nears

Dread Disease Taking Big Toll Of Life As Second Postwar Winter Arrives

BERLIN.—(INS)—Tuberculosis is menacing the people of Berlin as they enter their second post-war winter.

Spectacular epidemics have so far been prevented by Allied medical experts.

But authorities here are extremely worried over the steady increasing toll of lives taken by tuberculosis. Health officials say there are at least 65,000 known cases at present.

Infection Cases.
More than 20,000 of these are "open" or infection cases which should be given hospital care to prevent the disease from spreading.

But in a city as badly bombed as Berlin, hospital space is scarce. Many of the infectious tuberculosis patients are still working and coming in contact with healthy people. United States authorities consider the situation so serious that they have just moved a large number of American soldiers out of a barracks area in the outskirts of Berlin to provide emergency hospital space.

When Berlin last year was threatened by an epidemic of typhoid fever the Allied powers brought in huge quantities of drugs and inoculated the entire population.

The massive operation effectively crushed the malady before it could get a good start.

A diphtheria epidemic which threatened Berlin around Christmas time last year was likewise checked before it became serious.

Allied doctors learned how to conquer dysentery which at one time was claiming the lives of 92 out of every 100 infants who contracted the disease.

Scanty food rations and the lack of proper house-heating in the post-war period have now brought the tuberculosis problem to a dangerous head.

SHOULD WIFE BE OLDER THAN HUSBY?
CLEVELAND.—(INS)—A Cleveland judge and a psychology professor were at odds today on just one factor going to make a happy marriage.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Judge Samuel H. Silbert maintained that the husband should be about 12 years older than the wife.

Dr. Calvin S. Hall, chairman of the psychology department of Adelbert college in Western Reserve university, claims that a marriage is more likely to succeed if the woman is older.

NEW SHORTAGE
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—(INS)—A new shortage cropped up in Philadelphia today.

National gift officials reported that there are virtually no dogs or cats available for Christmas gifts as in other years.

But they had a substitute—rather twelve of them.

The officials said they have a dozen Yule kittens waiting for adoption.

Plum Pudding Features Welsh Christmas Fete

Christmas is traditionally a great celebration in English and Welsh families, but the festivity hasn't been what it used to be since the days before the war.

This year, however, in spite of the shortage of sugar and flour and fuel, and fruit, the people of the British Isles are trying to make the holiday somewhat like the carefree celebration it once was, according to Mrs. L. J. Lewis of 217 Glenmore boulevard.

Mrs. Lewis has just returned from a four or five months' visit to her home in Swansea, Wales, where she was surprised at the devastation which is still evident in the town, and the limitations on diet and clothing which are still in existence. A little extra fruit is being distributed during the holidays so that housewives may make the delicious plum puddings for which the British are noted. Besides the plum puddings, the Christmas dinner will probably be very similar to American dinners except that there will be no salad.

Her family is hoping to get a turkey for Christmas, and with that they will have rutabagas, brussels sprouts or green beans, and applesauce. Cranberries are seldom, if ever, served in England or Wales. And there will be no jelly with the rolls, either.

Plum Pudding
For the plum pudding, the real authentic old-fashioned plum pudding, you need:

- 1 lb. flour
- 1 lb. raisins
- 1 lb. sultanas (white raisins)
- 1 lb. suet
- 1 lb. grated raw apple
- 1 lb. brown sugar
- 2 grated carrots
- 1 nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon mixed spices
- 4 eggs
- 1 tablespoon baking powder

enough milk to make the batter of a dropping consistency.

First you clean your fruit and chop your suet fine, and then you mix all your dry ingredients. Beat the eggs and add them to the mixture, adding the milk as much as you need.

Grease four bowls and fill them with the mixture and place wax paper over the top. Tie the cloths over each one, securely, and boil them six hours.

You steam this pudding again before serving, naturally, and then bring it to the table covered with a white brandy or cherry sauce. You can add a sprig of holly, but just for decorations; it's not as edible as the pudding.

CHRISTMAS SALES
REACH NEW PEAK
IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—(INS)—The Department of Commerce reported today that Christmas buying in Philadelphia this year reached an all-time peak—in cash volume.

William M. Park, regional director for the department, said, however, that the total number of sales remained about the same as last year.

Park said Quaker City retail shoppers have proven "more price-conscious" this year.

A spot check of Philadelphia department stores, he added, showed a "definite falling-off" in the sale of high-priced furs, jewelry, handbags and women's shoes.

FATHER OF SEVEN KILLED SHOPPING FOR WIFE'S GIFT

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—(INS)—A crepe replaced a Christmas wreath on the door of the home of Amandus Fritz, 35, today.

Father of seven children, Fritz was killed when struck by an automobile while he was en route to purchase a gift radio for his wife.

Fritz' motorcycle collided with an automobile and he was decapitated.

Raymond Snuffin, 46, driver of the auto, was held in $3000 bail for grand jury action on a manslaughter charge.

Highways Clear Of Snow Today

Although roads were still icy in some places on Sunday, most of the highways in the county were reported clear this morning, according to Fred Martin, superintendent of highways.

On Sunday the snow plow cleared rural routes which had not been taken care of while the highways were still covered. No routes were so deeply covered that travel was impossible, Mr. Martin said.

Winter Sports Fans Will Have Data On Weather

Co-Operative Plan To Collect And Disseminate Weather Information In State

HARRISBURG—Collection and dissemination of data on winter sports in Pennsylvania during the 1946-47 season is being arranged through a cooperative plan announced today by the vacation and recreation bureau of the State Department of Commerce and the weather bureau.

This periodical report will provide the best and latest information regarding snow conditions and the available forecasts concerning the weather. These reports when compiled in Harrisburg will be consolidated into bulletins to be issued through the newspapers, radio stations and press teletype services that are available.

Sent To Capital

The reports will be sent to Harrisburg early every Thursday and Friday morning, beginning at a date yet to be chosen, and will be placed on the national teletype circuits of the weather bureau thus assuring that the information from the winter sports areas of Pennsylvania will be available in all major populated areas in eastern United States. The weather bureau offices in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and many other locations will have bulletins available upon call and will also disseminate them through their local radio and press facilities.

Received Regularly

Reports will be received every Thursday and Friday morning regardless of whether winter sports are available. This will leave no uncertainty and in many cases will prevent needless expense by persons traveling to sections where no such sports are available.

Because of the great demand for the 1946-47 edition of its booklet, "Winter Sports in Pennsylvania," another edition is being prepared for free distribution, the Department of Commerce reports.

Marguerite, or Margaret of Valois, young wife of Henry of Navarre, in the 16th century, is said to have boasted that she washed her hands at least twice a week.

FRENCH NATIONAL ASSEMBLY GIVEN SLASHED BUDGET

PARIS, Dec. 23.—(INS)—French Finance Minister Andre Philip Saturday presented a new budget to the national assembly, embracing slashes in many costly government subsidies.

The changes will increase the costs of some public services to the consumer by as much as 50 per cent.

Despite admitted need of economies to balance the budget, observers fear the measures will bring new demands for wage increases and add new impetus to the current inflationary spiral.

Holiday Greeting From Gov. Martin

HARRISBURG, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin today sent his last Christmas greeting as chief executive to his fellow Pennsylvanians. He said:

"To my fellow citizens of Pennsylvania I extend most cordial holiday greetings with sincere hope and prayer that all may have every happiness at Christmas and always.

"The gladness of the Yuletide season grows out of love and kindness. It manifests itself in joyous songs of praise, in good will and helpfulness. The spirit of Christmas brings to all men renewed hope for a world of universal brotherhood in obedience to the divine will and guided by the Christmas message of 'peace on earth—good will to men.'

"I offer to all Pennsylvanians my best wishes that they may enjoy health and prosperity in the new year."

BRING NYLONS BACK TO STATES

HONG KONG.—(INS)—American sailors departing from this harbor are taking nylon stockings back to their women-folk in the United States.

Nylon stockings bearing United States trade marks have so glutted the stores here that prices have been slashed to between $2.50 and $3 a pair.

Almost every brand of American goods can be seen in shops and this applies particularly to cosmetics. Figured out in United States dollars, lip sticks, nail polish and other beauty aids can be bought cheaper here than in America due to the elimination of the luxury tax still imposed on such merchandise in the United States.

Take Part In Bangle Day

Bangle Day was held today in the community and the photo shows Joan Dufford of 718 Emerson street, pinning a bangle on Alex Michaels of 2122 Berger street.

The collection was made in conjunction with the annual Christmas Seal sale for tuberculosis control in the county.

Others in the picture are Marie Olson, 509 E. Leasure avenue, (to the left of Miss Dufford) and Suzanne Elder, 431 Chestnut street. All the girls are members of the Order of the Rainbow, and volunteered their services for the day.

Veteran And Doctor Unable To Save Life Of Man Hit By Auto

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23.—(INS)—The efforts of a young war veteran and doctors proved futile last night when 71-year-old Thomas B. James, of Pittsburgh, died several hours after he was struck by a hit-run motorist.

Police said James' right leg was torn off when he was caught by the rough edge of a torn fender on the automobile. The elderly victim was returning to his job as plant watchman at the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation's southside plant, police said.

Police reported that John Pommetto, 24, an Army Air Force veteran, made a tourney of his belt in an attempt to stop James' leg from bleeding. The victim died in the southside hospital.

The most famous natural bridges in the United States are the Natural Bridge of Virginia, in Rockbridge county; and a group in southern Utah, including the Augustus, Edwin, Carolina and Rainbow bridges, which have been set aside as national monuments.

MORATORIUM OF WAGE INCREASES ASKED FOR YEAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric company today, answered labor demands for a pay hike by calling for a moratorium on wage increases for "at least a year."

The G. E. Head declared his suggestion was a means of "combating a vicious inflationary spiral that will carry us to disaster."

"I think it's about time the consumer got a break on prices," Wilson asserted.

"It isn't fair to 140 million Americans to make them pay higher prices than they are now paying."

Warn Drivers Of Dangerous Hill

MERCER, Dec. 23.—Pennsylvania highway department has taken action to reduce the number of traffic accidents on McCullough Hill, Mercer-Sharon highway.

A large sign has been placed on the west side of the winding hill to warn truck drivers against danger in travel. Two Sharon men were killed there early this year when a truck went out of control and skidded into their car. Last year one truck driver was killed and another truck burned up on the section of the highway.

State highway engineers have made surveys of the hill and indications are the highway will be straightened to remove a dangerous sweeping hillside right curve as well as sharp curve at the bottom.

Employment In District Higher

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 23.—Employment increased in three western Pennsylvania areas during November, figures released by Philadelphia Federal Reserve bank show.

In Sharon-New Castle area employment rose 24 per cent over the same month last year and two per cent over October. Payrolls jumped 53 per cent, highest in Pennsylvania, as compared with a year ago and two per cent over October.

Franklin-Oil City-Kane district showed an increase of six per cent in employment and 15 per cent in payrolls over 1945.

Erie-Meadville had the highest percentage increase in employment, 23 per cent, and ranked second in payroll increase, 46 per cent.

France Facing Loss Of Wealthy Indo-China Plum

PARIS, Dec. 23.—(INS)—France today faced a threat of losing a rich Oriental possession in Indo-China.

The disturbances in the Far East added considerably to the woes of the French already beset by a domestic political and economic crisis.

All Paris morning papers played up the developments in Indo-China. Leftists and Rightists agreed that a state of open warfare exists between Annamese and the French but they disagreed on the solution of the problem.

Acting as spokesman for the extreme left, the newspaper Pravotir denounced military and colonial authorities for allegedly sabotaging an accord signed last March to regulate relations between France and Viet Nam.

The Rightist and center press denounced the Viet-Namers for shedding French blood and called for strong measures to combat their actions.

Minister of Colonies Marius Moutet meanwhile planned to board an airplane tonight for Indo-China in an effort to seek a solution by personal consultations with the president of Viet Nam.

He declared the French will be faithful to principles of human fraternity but will not tolerate violence which victimizes Frenchmen and natives.

The importance of iodine in the diet for the control of certain types of human goiter has been one of the outstanding developments in recent medical science.

Disabled Vets Commander Wants WAA-Held Building

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Lloyd F. Olson, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, Saturday asked President Truman to help the Veterans Administration secure a Philadelphia building now being held by the war assets administration.

The building, located on Wissahickon Ave. in Philadelphia, was occupied by the Army Signal Corps during the war. It is now government-owned surplus property.

Olson declared that Philadelphia V. A. offices, which services about two million veterans in Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey, are housed in "inadequate and scattered facilities."

He added that under the present arrangement "it is impossible to do efficient work or to avoid costly and discouraging delays in the matter of service to disabled veterans."

Olson pointed out that "too often" administration offices are located in suburbs or other places "inaccessible to veterans."

He said that V. A. officials had informed him the question of disposal of the building had been referred to the White House for settlement.

All Paris morning papers played up the developments in Indo-China. Leftists and Rightists agreed that a state of open warfare exists between Annamese and the French but they disagreed on the solution of the problem.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23.—(INS)—If Producer Bert Granet has his way, RKO will send a full movie company abroad this summer to use the war-shattered terrain from Paris to Berlin as a movie locale.

The picture will be about action on a train run by the American occupation forces. It will be called "Berlin Express."

Bert just got back from a tour of Berlin and Paris and he is full of plans.

"I think it would make a tremendous picture, particularly if we can shoot it against the real background, which is more devastated than you can imagine until you can actually see it," Bert said.

"If it doesn't work out so I can take a full company, I'll at least send a second company back there for background shots."

Bert intends to get to work on "Berlin Express" as soon as he completes "Alice Adams," with Loretta Young, scheduled to start in a few weeks.

While Bert was in Paris, he went with three friends to see the famous "Follies Bergere."

But let Bert tell about it:

"You can't imagine how cold it was in the theatre. All of us sat bundled in heavy overcoats, but were almost frozen. Then this line of nearly naked chorus girls came out. They were so covered with goose pimples, they looked like turkeys."

Come next month, New York City and Washington are going to have a beautiful red-headed visitor who admits herself she's "going on a tour like a nick."

The young lady in question is Frances Gifford, born in neighboring Long Beach.

She leaves for New York January 5. She'll stay there for two weeks and then go to Washington for five days before returning to Hollywood.

Francis explained:

"I've been in New York and Washington just once before, but I didn't get any chance to see anything."

"This time I want to see all the sights, just like any other girl from the country."

Janet Leigh has become Hollywood's busiest correspondent. When she isn't before the camera she's either reading letters or writing them to her innumerable girl friends in her hometown of Stockton, Calif. A year ago she was a student of the College of the Pacific, never dreaming of a movie career. Then Norma Shearer saw her picture in a family album.

Contents of Grave Surprises Sheriff

DAYTON, O.—(INS)—Excitement reigned in the sheriff's office when a woman reported she had discovered a freshly dug grave near her home, five miles southeast of Dayton.

The grave, she said, was adorned with a large floral display.

Hurried To Scene
Deputy Sheriff Ben Brown hurried to the scene with a large shovel.

He found the grave and started digging. After a few minutes, he uncovered a large pasteboard box tied with fancy ribbon. Lifting the box from the grave he untied the ribbon.

In it he found a dead canary ensconced in a large silk handkerchief.

The most important spinach producing areas in the United States are the Norfolk district of Virginia and the winter garden district of Texas.

Many Of Churches Have Christmas Programs Sunday

"Joy to the World," "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and other like Christmas music resounded in churches of the city and county over the week-end as the annual commemoration of the birth of Christ began for the present yuletide season.

Most churches of the city were crowded to capacity on Sunday morning, as the ministers delivered the Christmas sermon, many using the beautiful Christmas story as found in the second chapter of Luke's gospel.

Numerous children's Christmas programs were presented on Sunday evening, after weeks of preparation and practice under the supervision of their junior department superintendents and hard working teachers. The annual treat was a feature of the evening programs, with numerous Sunday schools distributing gifts to the boys and girls.

Tonight and Tuesday evening other scattered programs are scheduled throughout the city with a few set for Christmas night. For the most part the majority of the programs and public celebrations will be over before Wednesday.

Some churches of the district are planning short Christmas praise services on Christmas morning at various hours, some beginning at 6 a. m., while others will be at different hours throughout the morning.

T. company bus operated by John V. Kaufman, 1312 East Washington street, at the corner of East Washington and North Mill streets. Her condition today was reported good.

Mrs. Baxter was reportedly walking across East Washington street and the bus was making a right turn from North Mill into East Washington street, when the accident occurred.

The bus knocked Mrs. Baxter down.

Two telephone calls for aid were received at police headquarters. One call was from a person not yet known, and the other was from Policeman William Birt who was in the vicinity.

Because of heavy motor vehicle traffic, Policemen Ralph Criswell and Lieutenant Thomas Jones ran from headquarters to the accident scene. They called police headquarters and asked that an ambulance be dispatched to the scene.

She was taken to the hospital where it was found she was suffering from a contusion of the back and laceration of the scalp.

CHRISTMAS MAIL IS HANDLED PROMPTLY

It is reported from Mahoningtown post office by Ed McBride, superintendent, that all mail received up to 6 o'clock this morning was delivered this morning, but mail was coming in heavily since and being dispatched and delivered promptly.

Despite requests that patrons on rural routes prestamp their mail, one patron a few days ago left 47 pieces of mail unstamped with money in the box for collection by the carrier. The unstamped mail was not collected; the post office department does not require him to do so.

Holidays Find City Library With Many New Patrons

Among the patrons to whom the New Castle Public Library extends its holiday greetings this year are many new book-borrowers, recently added to the library register. A number of these are long-time residents of the city, who have just discovered the convenience of the library.

Children patronize their own department in spite of the fact that there is no trained children's librarian on the staff. The library is hoping to have one before long.

Loan and reference departments, reading and periodical rooms, branches, hospital service and all other facilities are freely at the service of the people of New Castle. The bi-monthly forum on "great books" is a new feature this year.

A library borrowing card would be a thoughtful Christmas present to give a friend who lives outside of the city limits and is required to pay a small yearly fee to borrow books.

Many Christmas books have been in circulation during the past month, and in the months ahead the library will do all that it can to make the year a happy one.

Cleveland Browns Win All-America Conference Championship

Defeat Yankees 14 To 9 Sunday At Cleveland, O.

Motley And Lavelli Score Touchdowns In "Ice Bowl" Game

OTTO GRAHAM IS OUTSTANDING HERO

By CHARLES EINHORN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CLEVELAND, Dec. 23.—The All-American football conference had arrived today.

What doubts still existed as to the infant circuit's ability to stage major league football spectacles lay trampled in the frozen turf at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

There 41,181 chilled but happy spectators were treated to a daring exhibition which saw Otto Graham literally hurl his Cleveland Browns mates to a come-from-behind 14 to 9 triumph over the New York Yankees in the league's first championship game.

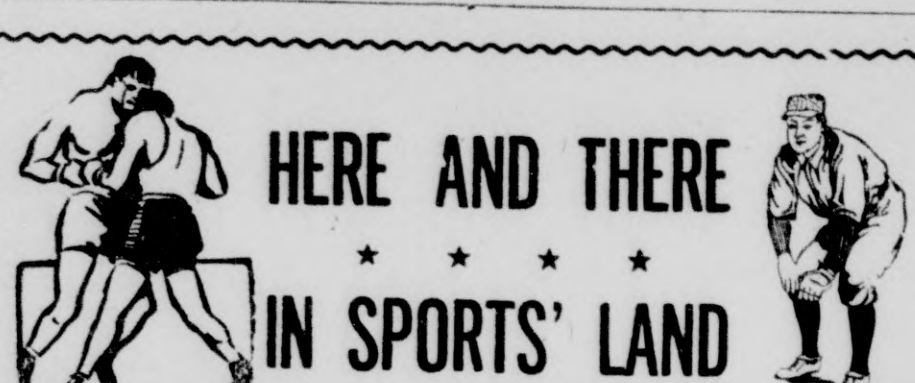

Graham, a tousle-haired All-American from Northwestern, completed 16 of 27 passes for 213 yards. Four of Otto's passes made up the bulk and substance of a 70-yard scoring parade by the Browns in the second period.

Then with less than five minutes of playing time remaining and the underdog Yanks ahead 9 to 7, four more Graham passes produced a 76-yard assault, another touchdown and ultimate victory.

In between those brilliant gestures on the part of the talented Otto, there were block and tackle of exciting moment; runs and passes of thrilling efficiency. There was a Yankee touchdown, engineered by a couple of aging ex-National leaguers—halfback Ace Parker and tackle Bruiser Kinard.

Clean-Hard Football
And above all else, there was clean, hard football such as has seldom been seen on the nation's post-war gridirons.

Trailing 9 to 7, the Browns attempted to grab the lead via a field goal. Groza, who already had missed attempts of 52 and 42 yards, (Continued on Next Page)

Duquesne Will Meet Tennessee

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23.—(INS)—The surprising, victory-flashed Duquesne university basketball team will shoot for their sixth straight victory tonight when they meet the Tennessee Volunteers on the McKeesport high school court.

Catch Chick Davies' quintet began upsetting the basketball dog-eaters last week when they knocked off Nevada, Morehead Teachers and Miami.

Andrews Scores Forty Points As K. Pulaskis Win

Local Passers Run Wild To Bury Farrell Quintet Under Record 100-26 Score

K. Pulaski's "Big Five" hit a new high in cage-scoring Sunday at the K. P. hall as they smothered the Farrell St. Adelbert quint under a 100-26 count for their eighth straight victory.

Billy Andrews, former senior high ace and late of the Bainbridge, Md. Navy team, also contributed to the record books with a grand total of 40 points for his afternoon's work, counting on 18 fields goals and four foul tosses.

This score supercedes the 52 points scored in one game by the K. P. team last winter and will leave a high mark for other teams to top.

Cooper Gets 25
Besides Andrews' scintillating rampage, Joe Cooper dumped in 11 fielders and three foul counters for an aggregate of 25 points and second honors. Krokoski, with 15, paced the visitors.

The K. P.'s double figure scoring in each period reached a climax in the final frame when 37 points went singing through the nets.

Sunday, Dec. 29, the Gonet-coached machine will meet the powerful Pittsburgh "Big Five," a team composed of Steeler football aces, who are playing independent pro ball this winter. The tip-off will be at the local floor.

Kovalcheck Named As Duquesne Coach

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Kass Kovalcheck, former Duquesne University football star, now serving as a lieutenant commander in the navy, today had been named head coach at his alma mater after the sudden exit of Coach Steve Sinko.

Sinko, who had been considering an offer to assist former Duquesne mentor Aldo (Buff) Donelli in his new assignment at Boston College, unexpectedly accepted the position during the week end.

Kovalcheck will assume his duties as coach upon his discharge sometime next spring.

Catcher Harry Danning, who for two years has been on the voluntary retired list of the New York Giants, will coach the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific League under Jimmy Dykes next season.

Dembinski Leads District Scorers

Titan Center Has 88 Points, Lead Nearest Rival By 10, McElhinney-Wagner High

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 23.—Figures released in Pittsburgh today show Chester "Blitz" Dembinski, the big six-foot six-inch Westminister Titan center, to be leading the tri-state district scorers with a total of 88 points to date on 34 field goals and 20 fouls.

Dembinski in three games last week against Bethany, Juniata and Cannon jumped his total to 88 by scoring 23 against Bethany, 15 against Juniata and 11 against Cannon. "Chet" has appeared in six games.

McElhinney-Wagner Tied
His nearest rival in scoring is H. Knoche of Washington and Jefferson with 76 points in four games with Schuylkill and West Virginia third with 76 in four games.
